

KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

about "Dispense as Written" ("DAW")

If you and your doctor have decided JADENU® (deferasirox) tablets or JADENU® Sprinkle (deferasirox) granules is the right option for you, there are steps you can take to make sure that brand name JADENU is exactly what you receive at the pharmacy.

When your doctor writes "DAW," "Dispense as Written," "Brand Medically Necessary," or similar language as required by your state or territory, it means that the pharmacy has to fill your medication exactly as written. However, even if you've received a prescription with "DAW" on it in the past, it may not carry over to a new prescription or refill.

Request "DAW"

Ask your doctor to write "Dispense as Written" ("DAW") on your JADENU prescription (or language required by your state or territory).

Check

While at the pharmacy or placing a mail order, you can verify with the pharmacist that your doctor's preference is JADENU. You can also request that the pharmacist dispense brand name JADENU, even if your doctor did not write "Dispense as Written" (or language required by your state or territory).

Confirm

Once you receive your medication at the pharmacy, verify that it is JADENU packaging. If it isn't, call your doctor. You can also call one of our counselors at Patient Assistance Now Oncology (PANO), 1-800-282-7630, to discuss your options.
